

How to XXXX

From an Aspiring Solicitor who has done this. 23.12.22

There is basically a series of steps to qualify checklist.

You notify them how you want to qualify so I selected that option. Then you see this

The screenshot shows a web page titled "A checklist of what you need to do to become a solicitor". The breadcrumb navigation is "SOE qualification checklist > Checklist". The main heading is "A checklist of what you need to do to become a solicitor". Below this, it states: "These are the steps you will need to complete to become a solicitor. Your checklist will reflect progress that you make and is based on what you have told us about yourself:". The selected option is highlighted in red: "I have passed, or intend to pass, the Legal Practice Course (LPC) but have not completed a period of recognised training". A link "Change answers" is visible to the right. A warning icon (exclamation mark in a circle) is followed by a text box: "This pathway is for individuals who have passed, or intend to pass, the LPC course but have not completed a period of recognised training (PRT). Your first task is to tell us you want to substitute qualifying work experience (QWE) and passing the SQE2 as equivalent to a PRT. You will then need to record two years' QWE and pass the SQE2. You must provide proof of your LPC certificate when you apply for admission."

To which I clicked 'yes'.

So, then you continue with the steps they list for you but before you apply for admission you just show your LPC certificate as proof.
